SKIO

Skio's first murals appeared in 1993 in the Nice city, France; starting with mural letterings before moving on to figurative romantic topics fed by his pop and TV culture.

Today the works of artist Skio (who studied to be a designer), mixing geometrical shapes and realistic portraits featuring obfuscated eyes, question our presence in the urban landscape by creating new modern and harmonious esthetics.

Inspired by Skio's love for the Bauhaus movement and surrealism, his creations have their own style aiming for a rare balance between geometry, anatomy and color through the exploration of minimalism's complexities.

Augmented by Skio's proficiency with spray painting as well as paintbrushes and digital tools, they range from large formats on city walls to canvases in his workshop, as well as spatial installations.

Shown in numerous festivals all over the world (Paris, New York, Mexico, Sarajevo, Dubai...) for the last twenty years, Skio's creations, thanks to his sensitivity and sense of assembly make him one of today's major upcoming artist

HUMAN IN THE CITY

Human In The City is a creative approach which tends to question the place of man in the urban landscape. It is a surreal and graphic transcription of urban space in which a face, a body is partially and realistically integrated, its gaze disappears to give way to yours, to what you are in your environment. Skio creates a discussion with Man, his presence and his anonymity in public space.

INTERIOR DESIGN

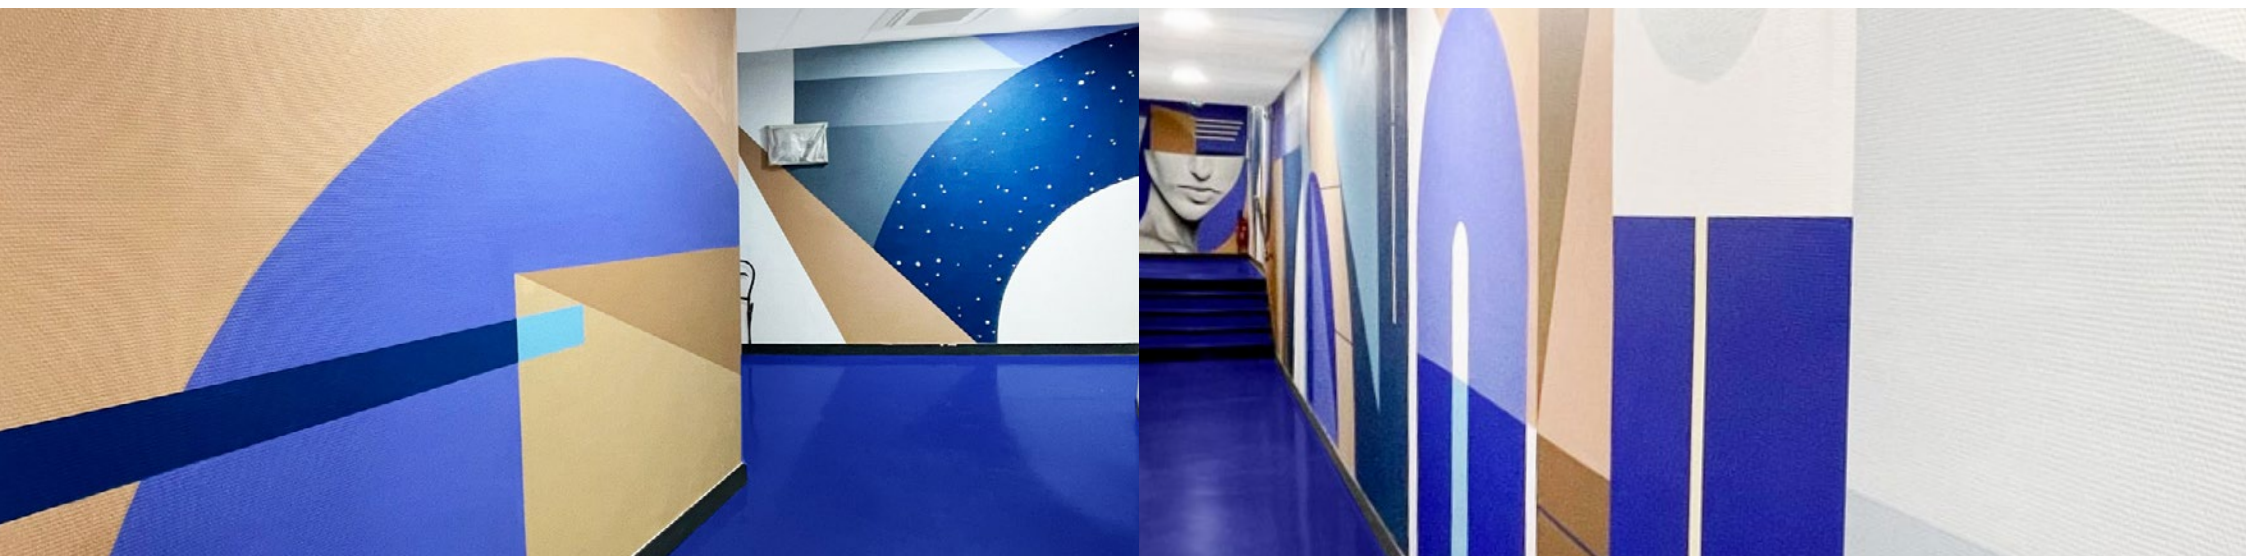

“Living in my artwork”

Interior painting allows you to play with different planes and points of view. Between Artdeco, Bauhaus and Neomodernism. Skio's works capture and play with volumes and create a luminous and modern character..
